News has been received from South Africa of the death on December 4th of Thomas Duff, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Duff of Middlebury. Mr. Duff left in early fall to join the British forces in South Africa. The body will be brought home for burial.

The worst blizzard since 1888 was reported at Manchester last week. Trains were stalled at Bellows Falls, while in the Connecticut valley a heavy rain, freezing, covered the rails and made it impossible to move trains. A genuine blizzard also prevailed at Bennington.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Rouleau of Montpelier and Albert King, a dentist of Burlington, was made public last week and was a surprise to their families and friends as well, the secret having been kept by them since last April, when the ceremony took place. Owing to the different religious views of the young people they believed their relatives would object to the marriage and decided to wed quietly, postponing the announcement to Miss Rouleau's immediate family for awhile.

During the year 1901 the city of Burlington expended in work on the streets the sum of $40,871.79. There was put in the permanent improvement fund $12,519.71, while $5,019.63 was expended on sewers. The city electric light bill for the year was $13,886.59.

Senator Redfield Proctor of Vermont is the father of a bill now with the committee on military affairs of the Senate that will be the means of reimbursing the state of Vermont for the money it has paid for the expenses of sick soldiers in the war with Spain if it becomes law.

Deputy United States Marshal Frank H. Chapman of Rutland is being spoken of as a successor to John W. Titcomb of St. Johnsbury in the office of state fish and game commissioner. Mr. Chapman has had a large amount of experience in the work of fish hatching and raising.

The estate of the late Bether Bartholomew of Washington, involving over $30,000, which has been in litigation for over 30 years, is on the eve of final settlement. This case has been a celebrated one before the courts, and the original litigants and their attorneys are now all dead.

Through a friend in Washington, Mrs. John LeClair of Swanton has received an order to make two rugs for the president's wife. The rugs are to be about five feet long. Mrs. LeClair has a local reputation for weaving fine rugs, but never dreamed that she would have the distinction of furnishing her handiwork for the white house.

A letter has been received by E. H. Webster of Barton from his son, Elmer, who is teaching in the Philippines, saying that he has from sixty to ninety boys in his school and from sixty-five to eighty girls. In addition to his day labors he is teaching an evening school. He is in good health and enjoys his school.

Governor William W. Stickney has appointed Charles L. Simmons of Bennington an examiner of teachers within and for the county of Bennington to fill the office made vacant by the resignation of Frank P. Davison, until including December 1, 1902. Mr. Davison has accepted a position as superintendent of schools for the town of Montague, Mass.

In supreme court last week the Caledonia county case of State against the Franklin County Savings Bank and Trust company was heard. This case involves the question of taxation on bank deposits subject to check. It was argued by Jonathan Ross of St. Johnsbury for the bank and J. E. Cushman of Burlington for the state. The decision will be announced later.

Although the term of Postmaster B. J. Derby of Burlington does not expire for a year, candidates are already appearing for the lucrative position which pays $3,300 per year. It is reported that Stanley Brownell, a railway mail clerk, and Joseph Auld, editor of The Daily News, are in the field and it is expected that Postmaster Derby will again be a candidate.

At the annual meeting of the trustees of Kellogg-Hubbard library at Montpelier George W. Wing was re-elected president; Rev. J. Edward Wright, secretary; A. D. Farwell, treasurer. Miss Mary E. Macomber was re-elected librarian and Miss Evelyn Lease assistant librarian. The library has been saved $12,500 by the removal of the government tax on legacies to libraries.

All Morrissett is interested in the success that Miss Ila Niles, daughter of A. A. Niles, Esq., is meeting as an actress in the comic opera, "Dolly Varden," at the Herald Square theatre, New York city. She has the part next in importance to Miss Lulu Glaser, the star. The New York Herald and other papers speak very favorably of her work in connection with that of the rest of the company.

The deed transferring the Howard Park property at Burlington to the Lumiere company of North America was filed in the city clerk's office last week. The price paid is $11,000. The purchase of the Howard Park property was one of the things the city required of the Lumiere company in exemption from taxation was granted. The sale of Howard Park also marks the passing of the fair in Burlington.

The storm the first of last week tied up the Bellows Falls and Saxton's River electric road so effectively that cars were not run the entire length of the road until Saturday. The burning out of the snow plow Sunday night prevented its use and as a result the rails became imbedded in snow and ice to such a depth that it had to be dug out the entire length with pick axes. Passengers and mail were carried by teams.

Work was commenced the first of last week in building an extension on the south side of Dewey hall, Norwich university, Northfield. The extension is 12 1-2 ft. by 22 ft. and is being built for the purpose of giving room for a stage. In addition to this a gallery is to be built in the hall, which at first was not thought practicable. This will give an added seating capacity for 100, making the total seating capacity of the hall about 600.

Regarding the charges made against Deputy Collector Gleason of Burlington, Rev. G. W. Morrow said that charges against Mr. Gleason had been withdrawn and the fight was being made direct on Collector James A. Wood of Portsmouth, N. H. The league expects to be able to prove some crooked proceedings in the issuing of Connecticut licenses from Mr. Wood's office. His reappointment as collector of internal revenue has been hung up at Washington pending the investigation of these charges. It is understood that one charge is that Mr. Wood's office has issued to Vermont parties licenses bearing fictitious names.

A good story is told of W. H. Fullerton of Manchester, who was one of the leading spirits in the building of the Hardwick & Woodbury railroad, and was always actively interested in its success. On the strength of his position as director, an exchange of courtesies was asked with the New York Central. "Where is your road?" asked the New Yorker. "Oh, up in Vermont," was the reply. "How long is it?" "Oh, seven or eight miles." "Do you think it quite reasonable for a director of a road seven or eight miles long to ask an exchange of passes on equal terms with a road with the mileage of the New York Central?" "Well," answered the Manchester philosopher, "my road may not be quite as long as yours, but it is just as wide!" And now when he goes to New York, he simply has to show his annual.

When Albert Schroeder of Brattleboro shot and killed himself Dec. 14, 1901, he left a note asking that his money, amounting to some $1,500, which was on deposit, be sent to his two sisters in Germany. Inquiry brought the information that Schroeder had a wife and son in Germany, both of whom are now living. Schroeder and wife had not lived together for several years, but whether either had a divorce is not known in Brattleboro. If there was no legal separation the money will probably go to Mrs. Schroeder. If a divorce was obtained by either the son probably will get practically the whole of the estate.

At a reception given to Admiral Schley at the Auditorium Jan. 27 by the citizens of Chicago, Vermont, through her representative, William J. Cassidy, received double honors; he led a surging, swaying mass of more than 5,000 persons up the broad and winding stairway, through a line of blue coats and detectives, to the parlor, and with cap in hand extended to the hero of Santiago, Vermont's congratulations. The admiral greeted him warmly, and then passed him on to Mrs. Schley and four other ladies of the reception committee, who embraced the youthful Vermont, an exceptional honor, doubtless accorded him on account of his tender years and because of his being a representative of the far off Green Mountain state.

The Street Fair and Midway held in Montpelier Old Home week is not yet over. The Central Vermont railroad and Sheik Hadji Tahar are having their innings. The sheik is at the bar and the Central Vermont is a defendant in a suit that has been brought in New York for the recovery of one truck the sheik lost when he left the city, the value being set up at $5,000. All the valuables the sheik possessed appeared to be locked up in his trunk, including the seven boxes, one within the other, in the inner circle of which had reposed the sheik's mascot, a hair from the beard of Mohammed, which alone the sheik had valued at $2,000. It is said that he alleges he had about $700 in money in the trunk. When he landed in Montpelier his trunks came C. O. D., and the managers had to advance about $500. It is reported, to get them out of the depot. The railroad is reported to have offered to settle for a couple of hundred dollars, but he refuses.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The International Shirt and Collar company is constantly increasing its help.

There is a possibility that a company with $10,000 capital may establish a brick making plant at Bellows Falls.

Barnet is to have an addition to its manufacturing industries in the shape of a canning factory. Men interested in the scheme have already been on the ground to investigate the feasibility of locating in the old Bottling company's works, now occupied by Mr. Davison. The company will contract with the farmers for the raising of 200 acres of sweet corn.

The strike at the mill of the Columbian Marble Quarrying company in Rutland, which had been in progress since Feb. 1, was settled Saturday morning in a manner satisfactory to both parties. The 150 or more mill men and marble workers returned to work Monday. The men demanded the discharge of a foreman, who was obnoxious to them, and in the settlement he was discharged. Five men whom he had discharged will be reinstated.

The Rutland-Florence Marble company now owns about 2,500 acres of good farming land at Florence and vicinity and is planning to do farming on a large scale. The work will be conducted under the management of a foreman. A creamery and all of the conveniences for modern farming will be supplied. This is said to be the largest farm in the state. A farm of about 500 acres in the vicinity of the company's True Blue quarry at West Rutland will be operated in connection with the Florence farm.

Some of the Williston farmers whose tuberculous cattle were killed by the state cattle commissioners and some of the other people of that town who sympathize with them are raising a fund with which to bring an action against the commissioners for damages and with the ultimate object of stopping the slaughter of cattle in the state. One of their claims is that if the state has a right to sequester private property for the public good, as it is alleged, the full value of that property must be paid by the state, instead of one-half, as is now done. A Burlington attorney has been engaged to handle the case and it is safe to say that a battle royal is imminent.

The manufacturing industries of Bennington have not been in so satisfactory a condition in some months as they are at present. Some of the knitting mills are running overtime and the establishment of Holden, Leonard & Co. is run several evenings each week in some department. The Lashier Stocking company is very busy. The Bennington Machine Works are also rushed with work and the foundry of the concern has not been as busy in some time. Most of the work is on pulp-making machinery, though several orders for powder-making machinery have recently been received. Orders for the full equipment for an old-fashioned wheel powder mill to be operated by mules as the power have been received from Mexico.

ACCIDENTS.

Mrs. M. M. Miller of Brattleboro, who has been spending the winter in New York, was seriously hurt by the explosion of dynamite which wrecked the Murray Hill hotel and is now in a hospital.

The little two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Newton of Winooski was fatally poisoned last week by drinking a portion of a bottle of Vapo-Cresolene, being terribly burned and dying next day.

The five-year-old daughter of James Toomey of Bennington narrowly escaped death last week. She was left in charge of a sister who was to give her some medicine, but instead gave her a teaspoonful of laudanum. The mistake was discovered soon enough to get a physician, whose efforts saved the child. The mother was away on an errand.

Patrick Sheehan, assistant roadmaster of the Rutland railroad system, was severely injured at the Rutland yard in Bellows Falls Monday. He was in charge of the flange plow and was standing on a siding in front of it. The engineer started the plow, throwing Mr. Sheehan against the deadwood of a freight car in front. He was caught firmly by the arm and twisted almost completely around, putting his shoulder out of joint. He was badly bruised and also received internal injuries.

The passenger train on the New London division of the Central Vermont railroad, due in Brattleboro at 1 o'clock Saturday, ran into an open switch in the freight yard south of the Brattleboro station and crashed into a Central Vermont supply car which stood on the side track. Engineer S. A. Collins and several passengers were shaken up but no one was seriously hurt. The supply car was telescoped, the sides being spread apart by an oil tank which stood in the end near the point of contact.

Recently W. C. Putnam of Putnam & Damon of Bellows Falls was seriously injured and his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Putnam, seriously bruised. Mr. Putnam was driving his grocery team, with Mrs. Putnam in the sleigh. The horse took fright from a passing train and ran, throwing both out. Mrs. Putnam's injuries consisted of painful bruises and severe shock from the concussion. One of Mr. Putnam's hip bones was fractured close to the body and the kneecap was cracked. Dr. O'Brien took him by the night train Friday night to the Mary Fletcher hospital at Burlington, where the fractured bone was set and everything is being done which science can do to save him from being crippled for life.

MISDEEDS AND PENALTIES.

It is claimed that there is considerable illegal deer shooting being done in the southern part of Bennington county, three within a short time.

The treasury of the Hardwick academy, located in the office of C. P. Sawyer, publisher of the Hardwick Gazette, and treasurer of the school district, has been robbed of $325. Dan Brooks has been arrested, charged with the crime.

The Lafayette House at Burlington, on which there is a permanent injunction, was searched last week and a pint of whiskey found. The proprietor, Jennie Callan, was haled into court and assessed costs of seizure. She appealed and gave bail for $50.

Cranston's store, Bennington, was entered by burglars last week and $15 in cash, cigars and canned goods taken. Entrance was made by taking out a light of glass in a window in the rear. It was manifestly the work of amateurs.

That Cough Hangs On

You have used all sorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Vermont Pensions.

Senator Proctor has introduced a bill to grant an increase of pension to Adelaide G. Hatch.

Shine, West Wardsboro, $12.

Representative D. J. Foster has introduced bills to grant an increase of pension to Orion B. Colby and also a bill to increase the pension of Dexter B. Town. Mr. Town resides in Albany and Mr. Colby in Fairfax. He has also presented the petition of J. J. Hale Post, No. 66, G. A. R., department of Vermont, asking for an investigation of the administration of the bureau of pensions.

Bankruptcy Notices.

Geo. H. Albee, a laborer of Rockingham, filed a petition in bankruptcy Friday. His liabilities are $176.57 and assets, $72.17, of which $20 are claimed exempt.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed Thursday by George S. Hickey, a plumber of Lyndonville. His liabilities are $1,044.81 and his assets $882.72, of which $300 are claimed exempt. The following Vermont petitions in voluntary bankruptcy have been filed: George H. Kinston of Hardwick, a carpenter; liabilities $746.80, assets $260, exempt $50. Charles L. Colburn of White River Junction; liabilities $228.50, assets $90, exempt.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed last week. It was that of the Monkton Kaolin Co. of Monkton, whose debts are said to be $1,000, aside from $500 proven claims. The petitioners are Charles Thomas, Frank Blanchard, William Lapree, Antonio Marsh, Michael Murphy, Mitchell Zeno, Charles Barnum, T. Shepard and H. L. Rivers. It is alleged that the company committed an act of bankruptcy a short time ago by executing a mortgage deed in favor of Goss & Marsh of Vergennes.

PERSONAL.

The legislature of New Jersey at Trenton Feb. 4 elected the Hon. Frank O. Briggs, ex-mayor of Trenton, state treasurer. Col. Briggs is a member of the great house of Roebling's Sons company, the treasurer of the New Jersey Wire Screen company and treasurer of the Porter Manufacturing company of Winooski. He served with great credit in the United States army, and left the service to enter the houses named above. He was twice elected mayor of Trenton and filled the office with much ability.

Announcement has been made of the appointment of John W. Titcomb, superintendent of the national fish hatchery station at St. Johnsbury, to the position of chief of the division of fish culture, with headquarters at Washington. Mr. Titcomb has accepted, and will assume the duties about Feb. 15. The position carries with it the oversight of all the hatchery stations in the country. Mr. Titcomb succeeds W. DeC. Ravenel, who leaves to accept a lucrative position in the national museum. Mr. Titcomb is a son-in-law of Senator Jonathan Ross. He went to St. Johnsbury in 1893 as inspector of construction at the national hatchery, and a year later was appointed superintendent. In 1890 he organized the Vermont Fish and Game league and served as its secretary for three years and as its president since that time. He is also chairman of the state fish and game commission, and has just finished a term as president of the North American Fish and Game Protective association.

RECENT DEATHS.

Rev. J. F. Simmons, the beloved pastor of the Universalist church of Woodstock, and a clergyman very well known throughout New England, died Friday evening. Mr. Simmons had been ill with the grip a little more than a week, this, with the resulting complications, bringing his illness to a fatal issue. He was about fifty years of age and leaves a widow and one son.

John Bedell died at Guildhall Jan. 11, aged 109 years, 1 month, 8 days. He was probably the oldest person in the state. He was born in the town of Lebanon, N. H. He was of English parentage, his father and mother coming from England some time during the war for independence. He had always enjoyed good health and was not ill the night before his death, which occurred instantly.

AS IN DAYS OF OLD.

Now as Then, Safety Depends on Strong Walls and a Brave Garrison.

If you and I were defending a castle we should, of course, look especially to those places where the walls were lowest and weakest. Now the human body is a castle. The better we understand where our weak spots are and how to cover them from attack, the longer we shall keep possession. We must defend Castle Body when it is first threatened, and not wait until the enemy has made a lodgment inside the walls. The bad things, the wastes, the impurities, the poisons are, when all is right, thrown out of Castle Body by means of the Lungs, the Bowels, the Kidneys, the Skin—these four scavengers. But when the first three are bothered by indigestion and dyspepsia, the skin has more work than it can do. Now the man exposes his skin, or some part of it, to the cold. The skin is clogged at once. Inflammation follows, the poison goes to weak spots and he is sick.

Keep your system clean with the new medicine, Calcareo Solvent, discovered by Dr. David Kennedy, of Kennedy Row, Kingston, N. Y. It cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, etc., ailments of the nutritive processes in every phase and the organic maladies so common and fatal among us. Try it and you will trust it. All druggists, $1.00 a bottle.
